Developing Health™: New York City

Overview

“Developing Health” is a new, three-year $50 million program providing grant funding and GE employee volunteer support to non-profit health centers across the United States. Recognizing the urgent issues related to cost, quality and access to health care for underserved populations in the United States, GE Foundation launched the “Developing Health” program which aims to increase access to primary care for underserved populations in targeted communities. In October 2009, Developing Health was launched in New York City, and the GE Foundation awarded $1 million in grants across four community health centers in the New York City metropolitan area.
